ANXIETY IN EGYPT.

cial to the Herald of Nov. 27th says: All eyes are now turned to Khartoum and fears are generally felt that El Mahdi is already besieging that city. Sir Samuel Baker writes: "I do not fear the immediate invasion of Egypt from the South, bu the rebels, and such an example is ruinous in Lower Egypt. Precautions mus be adopted, and a large force should be stationed in Dongola and the fortified station occupied on the Nile opposite Berber. I would neglect all other routes and concentrate the Government forces in the Dongola district. The Abyssinians might be invited to march upon Khartoum, which they can reach through a fruitful country. No British troops should be sent to the unhealthy climate of the Soudan, or to occupy Suakim, on the Red sea, where the water is bad and the heat is intense. The winter season is approaching and the conditions are unfavorable for sending Indian troops across the desert from Suakim. Khartoum may be rendered impregnable, being protected on both flanks by the White and Blue Niles; but, above all, let England delayer benefits and the conditions are unfavorable for sending Indian troops across the desert from Suakim. Stern, Cahn and across the desert from Suakim. Khar-toum may be rendered impregnable, being protected on both flanks by the White and Blue Niles; but, above all, let Eng-land declare her policy in Egypt. She weakens her prestige and paralyzes her authority with the Khedive by an inter-ference without substantial aid. Orien-tals can not comprehend a policy of als can not comprehend a policy of stereotyped morality.

KHARTOUM STRONGLY FORTIFIED. LONDON, Nov. 27 .- There is nothing here to confirm the report that Khartoum had fallen into the hands of El Mahdi. On the contrary, the last advices indicated that the siege was liable to be stubbornly that the siege was liable to be stubbornly opposed, as the garrison was being re-enforced and provisioned.

A Cairo correspondent telegraphs that no news has yet been received from Khartoum. This is regarded as giving grounds for the hope that the report of the recent fight between Hicks Pasha and El Mahdi was exaggerated. The opinion is that if the worst reports are confirmed it will be best to send troops to Soudan in order to prevent the necessity for landing Turkish troops in Egypt.

THE VIRGINIA RIOT.

The Whites Did all the Sheotin No Adequate Provocation. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27 .- The Pres says: A correspondent of the New York Times has made careful investigation of the trouble between the whites and blacks on the eve of the present election in Virginia, and the facts, as he has gathered them, fill more than three columns. The story there told does not differ in essential story there told does not differ in essential facts from that sent by the press correspondents, nor do we see that its sober statements conflict in any material degree with the rather warmer narrative of Senator Mahone. Whether the shooting was premeditated or inspired by the presence of a somewhat larger number of negroes than usual in an exciting election period is left in some doubt, but it is indisputable that the shooting did take place without any adequate provocation; that the out any adequate provocation; that the whites did the shooting, and that the negroes were the ones shot at.

A NEW CHARACTER IN CONGRESS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 .- A Washington spec ial says: Colonel Woolford, an unr structed Conf. derate and Congressman MORE ABOUT HIM.

MORE ABOUT HIM.

The Post's Washington special says:
The great character of the Kentucky delegation is Frank Woolford, an old Confederate officer who has never been reconstructed. The first thing he did was to have his room reduced in its furnishings to military simplicity. He had the carpet first taken off the floor. The next thing to go was the hair mattress and wire springs; he wanted a straw bed on the slab, and a straw pillow. The curtains were torn out of the windows, and then General Frank Woolford moved in his baggage and was ready to see his friends.

[Col. Woolford was a Umon officer, not [Col. Woolford was a Union officer, not a Confederate, and was somewhat famous during the war as commander of Wool ford's Kentucky Cavalry. He is a Dem one .- Ep. Times. 1

The New Statue of Washington NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- Ward's statue of hostile criticism. The Times says: "The colossus is seen best at close quarters. Its the roadway and sidewalks of Wall street. When the statue is within hand's reach the features are calm; when seen from the street they have a singularly disagreeable grimase. Immortal George appears to look across at the Stock Exchange and raise his right hand in horror at the financial performances there, while his face betokens most vivid disgust."

Leadville special says: A fire broke out Londner's grocery store and Horsnydner' dry goods store, with several smaller establishments. The total loss is $27,000; insurance, one-half.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28 .- Mrs. Margare O'Donnell, wife of Carey's slayer, lives in belonners, when course, status residence being known only to Father Felah, priest of the Church of the Assumption. The latter said to-day that Mrs. O'Donnell was not unwilling to attend the trial of the former, which begins on Friday, but on the contrary that for weeks she has held herself in readingly to go to England and to self in readiness to go to England and to give her evidence on behalf of her husband if it would be admitted. Father Felan added that she is now ready to go and testify in behalf of her husband.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 27.—In making improvements on Colony Hill the graves of the pilgrims who came over on the Mayflower, and were buried during the first winter, have been discovered. One of those opened contained the skeleton of a middle-aged man, five feet nine inches in height. In another grave the skeleton of an elderly man was discovered.
